THE STRIKE STILL ON

All the Motormen Quit Yesterday Morning.

NOT A CAR OVER THE LINE

The Committee Met With Secretary Davies and Superintendent Andrews and Reported to the General Meeting. Mr. Davies Makes a Statement, as Do the Motormen—A Great Deal of Inconvenience the Result of the Strike.

According to promise and right in line with every indication of Saturday afternoon, the motormen of the street railway struck at an early hour yesterday morning, and cars have not been moving since that time.

Early in the evening it was evident that the company did not intend to accede to the demands of the men, and that there would be no increase in the price now paid; but at 9 o'clock a committee called on Superintendent Andrews and they talked the matter over. Secretary Davies was also present, but the conference did not last a long time. To meet the request of the men the officials proposed to pay them $1.75 for five trips, or 11 hours and 48 minutes, with 18 cents an hour for all time over that. No assurance was given that each man would be allowed enough work to keep him from starving, and as the compromise would only allow about 11 cents an hour advance, the committee went away in anything but a humor that meant work. When all the cars were in the barn and the work was done, the motormen met in Chamber's hall in East End and talked the matter over. The report of the committee was decided upon as the declaration of the company to oppose the men, and the strike began in earnest. When the time arrived for the cars to go out in the morning, not one left the barn, and all day the road was silent. People who wanted to go to Wellsville either walked or delayed the trip until they could catch a train. Much inconvenience was the result and there was a howl, both in this city and Wellsville. That, however, was nothing to what happened this morning, when people awoke to find the cars still, and no service. There was dissatisfaction and grumbling everywhere, but no move about the power house indicated that any attempt would be made to run cars. The press committee of the motormen gave out the following statement this morning:

"There are 17 regular runs—six day, six swing and five late runs. The first three day runs are 13 hours and 48 minutes; the fourth and fifth 11 hours and 36 minutes; the sixth day run is 12 hours. The first three late runs are 12 hours and 48 minutes and the last two late runs 11 hours and 36 minutes. The first and second late runs on Saturday are 13 hours and 48 minutes without extra pay. The first two swing runs are 13 hours and 36 minutes, and the last three are each 12 hours and 12 minutes, except on Saturday, when the third and fourth are each 13 hours and 36 minutes without extra pay. The swing runs are seven hours in the morning and finish at night. One short run is only six hours and 36 minutes, which each of the swing men get one week in every six. The average in the entire week for each man is 12 hours and 16 minutes. The time given for day and late runs includes 36 minutes for dinner or supper, but only the total time is given for the swing runs. The men are compelled to be at the power house in the morning in time to sweep the cars and carry sand for the boxes, and in the winter they must carry coal, cut wood, start the fires—little things which no other motormen in the country are compelled to do. Then the freight business is another object. They are called upon to carry flour, potatoes, oil, machinery, castings and all kinds of freight, and then we are expected to dress neat, clean and look nice. Each motorman is expected to provide his own change, not less than $5 in change nor $2 in checks, and examinations are occasionally made to see that the amount is all right; and no one objects to this, because when a motorman agrees to do these things it is his duty to do them. The motormen asked 18 cents an hour and no day less than nine hours. This was to prevent them from putting on short runs or trippers and thus put men in such position that they could not make a living. We also asked protection from rain and storm according to law."

"There is no question about this matter of vestibules," said Secretary Davies to the News Review this afternoon. "If they are not put on we will go to jail. I met with the motormen on Saturday night, and offered to pay them $1.75 for five trips, and 18 cents an hour for all overtime. This would affect more than half the men, and make 11 runs pay $2.15 a day and five runs $1.75. Now we think we have met the men half way in this matter, and when it is remembered that the company is making no money, I think they ought to accept it. In all other towns where fare boxes are in the cars, motormen only get from 13 to 15 cents an hour; but if the men have a meeting this afternoon I want to have another talk with them. Then we may settle the strike," and the secretary turned a pleasant face toward the reporter, for he seemed to be in the best possible humor.

STEAM CARS.

Once More the Only Communication With Wellsville.

When the 8 o'clock train this morning dashed into the passenger train it bore the appearance of an excursion, and was crowded to the guards. Few people imagined that the amount of business represented on that train was done between Liverpool and Wellsville, but it was there. There were girls by the dozen who live in Wellsville and work in the potteries and not a few men could be seen among them. None were in a good humor for they had lost an hour of time, and the prospects were not bright for getting home before seven this evening. The crowd at the station to greet the train was large, for the people who wanted to go to East End were compelled to fall back on the railroad. There were business men and workmen, school teachers and pottery girls, and all of them looked as though they wanted to shake up the street railway for its impudence in stopping the cars. The service has been so poor since conductors were taken off that the management in Cleveland have little sympathy in Liverpool, the people here having been compelled to bear the burden. Another inconvenience developed by the strike, and that was the difficulty experienced by East End people in reaching town. The business of some was imperative and they could not wait for the nine train. They walked; but those who could endure the strain waited patiently until the train came in. The inconvenience was great, and there was a general demand for cars during the entire morning, while the streets seemed dull and listless without the old things rolling through town.

WHAT THE LAW SAYS.

Cars Must be Run on the Street Railway.

Throughout the day there has been a great deal of discussion regarding the running of cars, the claim being made that the company was compelled to send a car over the line at least once in 24 hours. Solicitor Clark when questioned on the subject said that on page 231 of the Revised ordinances, section 5, of the ordinance granting the company permission to lay tracks, says that cars must be run as often as the public convenience may demand and require daily. On page 212 is found section 6 of an ordinance which a foot-note says was never repealed, and it is inserted because no reason is found for leaving it out. The section declares that should the company discontinue cars for 30 days, the franchise reverts back to the city. "Council might repeal the franchise," said Solicitor Clark, "if the company breaks the law; but even then some consideration, such as unavoidable accidents, are to be considered. However, it is a public institution, and as such must not inconvenience the public."

WENT TO CHURCH.

Almost all the Motormen Attended Service.

As the majority of the motormen are residents of the East End, they have made friends and sympathizers there, and when they walked in a body to the Second United Presbyterian church last evening no surprise was expressed, for it had been whispered about that they would be there. Reverend Aiken, a student from the Allegheny seminary, occupied the pulpit, and delivered an excellent sermon. The idea of a lot of strikers attending services in a body appealed so strongly to the people that some who believed the motormen were too hasty at once came over to their side, and pointed out the mistake of the company in not granting the demand.

More Gas Today.

The Bridgewater mains did not have a great deal of gas in them yesterday, and consumers suffered. The cause lay in the fact that too much was shut off on Saturday night, but it was turned on again yesterday afternoon, and now the company has an abundance of fuel.

SIXTEEN SALOONISTS

They Were Caught by the Late Grand Jury.

NOTIFIED THEM LAST SATURDAY

Chief Gill Served the Subpoenas and the Crowd Went to Lisbon This Morning—There Was Mourning in Town When the News Came Out—That Is All This Time.

There was consternation among the saloon men on Saturday night when a large number were notified that the sheriff wanted them in Lisbon, and they were expected to report this morning.

The prosecutions are the result of the late grand jury which returned 108 indictments for violation of the liquor law, and although the knowing ones expected to see some little papers come to this city, they did not believe there would be an avalanche. The men who were called upon to answer various charges are Harry Hughes, George Perry, Dick Webber, Henry Webber, John Robinson, W. H. Thompson, Babe Rinehart, Ben Scharr, W. J. Sullivan, Alex Myler, Oscar Bowles, William Saunders, Joseph Dinerstein, James Massey and Josephine Gallagher. Rinehart was bartender at Thompson's place for a time, and it is alleged that he broke the law during that time. Mrs. Hamill is also in the muss, the charge being against her and not her bartenders. Oscar Bowles has been out of the saloon business for some time, and he thought it rather hard that he should be caught now. All the accused went to Lisbon this morning, and showed the court they were ready for the consequences.

When the saloonists reached Lisbon this morning Harry Hughes was the first called, and pleaded not guilty to selling to a minor, giving bail for $300. Ben Schar acknowledged his guilt on a similar charge, and paid $30 and costs. W. H. Thompson gave bond in three charges as did W. Myler, who is charged with selling to a minor on two charges. Mrs. Hamill said she was guilty of furnishing to a minor, and paid $15 and costs. George Perry, for furnishing an habitual with liquor, got $20 and costs, and James Massey said he did not sell on Sunday, giving bond for his appearance. Oscar Bowles was charged with selling to a minor, but denied it.

LADIES AUXILIARY.

A Large Attendance at the Rink Saturday Night.

There was a large crowd present at the rink on Saturday night, and a snug sum of money was netted for the Young Men's Christian association. The members of the Young Men's Christian association went through athletic exercises, commencing at 9:30 and continuing until 10:30, and were loudly and heartily applauded for the excellent work done. Physical Director Morris promises to have a class of scholars who will reflect credit upon East Liverpool. The Kinetoscope did a land office business during the night, and the nickels came in with a rush. Mr. Selgried, the gentlemanly owner, has the thanks of the ladies. The flower show attracted much favorable comment, and quite a number of the plants were auctioned off by Mr. Morris, secretary. The ice cream stands and soda fountain were generously patronized. Taken all in all, the ladies are well pleased with their success, and return warm thanks to a generous public.

Tonight, the ladies will be in attendance at the rink, where they occupy a small space at the Broadway end of the building. Help the good cause of the Young Men's Christian association along by generously patronizing these good women.

PAID THE DEBT.

Methodists Subscribed Liberally Yesterday Morning.

Although the congregation at the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning was not large, the determination to raise $1,600 with which to pay a portion of the debt was carried out very well and $1,400 was subscribed before the members knew they were so near the goal. The remainder of the amount was pledged by private subscription. It was the intention to materially decrease the debt of the church, but this was done by dividing it into sections. The total debt was $6,400 before the responses to the appeals of Doctor Huston came in yesterday morning.

HUSTLING IN AKRON.

The Company Have Plain Sailing Just Now.

"Bony" Moore, one of the best known workmen ever employed at a pottery in the city, was in town yesterday visiting for a short time with friends. He declares that all is well in Akron, the recent troubles having been cleared away, much to the gratification of all concerned. The pottery, too, is enjoying the best business it has had since the Liverpool company made it what it is, and all the men have abundant work. The plant is being worked to its fullest capacity, there being an exceptionally strong demand for the grade of ware the concern turns out.

CALLED TO ACCOUNT.

Criminal Cases Brought Up at Lisbon Today.

Special to News Review.

LISBON, Oct. 21.—The court room was so cold this morning that court was adjourned to the grand jury room, where Mrs. Barcus was brought to answer the charge of murder. She pleaded not guilty, as did Albert Barcus, and Hon. R. W. Taylor and J. H. Brooks were appointed to defend them. James D. Hickey was released on $800 bond, after denying that he picked Elwood Bunting's pocket. James Gallagher, of Sallineville, paid $20 for selling to a minor, and his son William paid $15 and $10 for furnishing liquor to a minor. Michael Goff, of Sallineville, was fined $20 and costs for the same crime, and Louis Palmard said he was not guilty. Pat Denmore denied the charges against him, and was sent back to jail. J. S. Conkle said he was not guilty, and R. W. Taylor was appointed to defend him.

THE MEETING.

Hon. Charles Emory Smith and Hon. D. K. Watkins at the Rink.

Hon. Charles Emory Smith and Hon. D. K. Watkins will speak at the rink this evening, and it is the duty of Liverpool to give them a great audience. Mr. Smith now the distinguished editor of the Philadelphia Press, but during the administration of General Harrison the minister to Russia, will make several speeches in Ohio before the campaign is over, and the first will be in this city. He is in great demand, and it will be years before East Liverpool will have another opportunity to hear him. The local committee have arranged for the presence of the colored glee club, who will sing several selections during the evening. Go to the rink tonight.

CAPTURED THE BURGLAR.

A Little Adventure on Ridgeway Avenue.

Cross Kerr discovered a burglar in his house on Ridgeway avenue at an early hour this morning, and after frightening the intruder into believing there were many men around, summoned Jack Green from his house next door. Cross was armed with an Indian club, and promised so vigorously to make short work of the burglar that he behaved himself very well while his captors discussed the best method of disposing of him. At length the fellow began to beg for mercy, saying that he got into the house by mistake and had no intention of robbing it. At length they allowed him to go, and he ran like the wind.

CIGARS FOR SALE.

The New Law Seems to be a Dead Letter.

The recent order of Mayor Gilbert calling for the enforcement of the law which does not allow the sale of cigars and soft drinks on the Sabbath day seems to have become a dead letter. Several young men declared yesterday afternoon that the cigars they were smoking had been bought, "and without under cover, too," said one. The first few Sundays, cigars could not be purchased anywhere; then for a while they were bought by people who were known to be all right, and would not say a word, but now the scare seems to have disappeared, and cigars may be sold as usual.

A NASTY FALL.

William Blakely Tumbled Off a Street Car.

William Blakely, a well known young man of the city, was in Wellsville Saturday night, and came home on a street car. He was standing on the rear platform, and when the car turned the corner at the soap factory it was going at such a rate of speed that the young man was thrown off. He almost turned completely over, but his head struck the pavement, cutting a long gash in the scalp, and painfully bruising him. Fortunately for Blakely he fell on the outside of the curve or he might have been more seriously hurt.

A County Committee.

The County Republican Executive committee is meeting this afternoon in Clerk Hanley's office at city hall. The only business before the meeting is the assignment of speakers.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

William Walters Fell Off His Wagon.

A WHEEL WENT OVER HIS HEAD

But He Escaped With No Other Injury Than a Fractured Skull, a Broken Jaw and a Lacerated Lip—The Conveyance Was Loaded With Dirt.

William Walters, residing at 243 Second street, and employed by James Walters as teamster, was nearer death this morning than ever before, and how he escaped is still much of a mystery.

Walters was hauling dirt from the excavation being made for the Standard pottery, and in some way fell off the wagon. His body dropped into the street, and his head was directly in the track of the rear wheel of the wagon on that side. There was no one to stop the horses, and before Walters could be rescued from his perilous position the wheel had passed over his head. He was immediately carried to the patrol station, when Doctors Taylor and Ikert were summoned. They found that Walters had been badly hurt, his skull being crushed and his jaw broken, while a deep cut on his lip was the most painful injury of the lot. No internal injuries developed, and the doctors think that Walters will live if complications do not appear. He was taken home in the patrol, and was resting much easier this afternoon.

INVESTIGATING.

The State Board of Arbitration in the Sanitary Strike.

Secretary Bishop, of the state board of arbitration, was in Tiffin on Saturday looking after the strike of the sanitary potters, and discovered that the best of feeling exists between the company and the men. The workmen claim that the employment of apprentices leads to the overstocking of the labor market in their line of work. They also claim that the system employed for the deduction from wages where work is defective very often works a great injustice. At the present time the Tiffin employees are awaiting the action of their national organization.

Soon to be Wedded.

The announcement is made today that A. W. Scott, the well known architect, and Miss O. Ona Johnson, the charming daughter of E. S. Johnson, will be married Wednesday evening at the residence of M. R. Geer, in Allegheny, by Rev. C. S. Lucas, of the Christian church of that place. The attendants will be Professor Gotschall and Miss Nellie Lloyd, of this place, and Mr. E. M. Geer and Miss Claudie Geer, of Allegheny. A wedding supper will be served, and the wedding party will be home on Thursday. The happy pair will reside at 1984 Walnut street. Miss Johnson is already in receipt of a beautiful piano, the gift of her father.

Fine Music.

Mrs. Ted Brookes has been indefatigable in her efforts to master the fine organ at the First Methodist Episcopal church, and has succeeded beyond the fondest hopes of herself and friends, and her rendering of appropriate selections, during services is the subject of general commendation in the congregation.

Civil Service Examination.

The regular semi-annual examination for the grades of clerk and carrier will be held in this city on Saturday, Dec. 7. The civil service examinations are open to all reputable citizens, who will be examined without regard to political belief. Apply to the secretary for blanks, and have them in before Nov. 18.

Hot Coffee and Ice Cream.

At the rink tonight, Monday, Oct. 21, the Ladies auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian association will set up hot coffee, delicious ice cream and palatable cake, at the Broadway end of the rink. Help the ladies in the good cause, as the proceeds go to the Young Men's Christian association.

Not Our Reverend Huffer.

A Pittsburg paper this morning published the statement that Reverend Huffer, of the Christian church, had been expelled from the church for offering to sell his vote. It is not Reverend Huffer of this city, but another, who has no connection with him whatever.

A Pleasant Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldennire, East End, was the scene of a pleasant party on Saturday evening. The occasion was to bid farewell to the family, as they will in the near future move to Rootstown.

A Large Attendance at the Rink Saturday Night.

There was a large crowd present at the rink on Saturday night, and a snug sum of money was netted for the Young Men's Christian association. The members of the Young Men's Christian association went through athletic exercises, commencing at 9:30 and continuing until 10:30, and were loudly and heartily applauded for the excellent work done. Physical Director Morris promises to have a class of scholars who will reflect credit upon East Liverpool. The Kinetoscope did a land office business during the night, and the nickels came in with a rush. Mr. Seigfried, the gentlemanly owner, has the thanks of the ladies. The flower show attracted much favorable comment, and quite a number of the plants were auctioned off by Mr. Morris, secretary. The ice cream stands and soda fountain were generously patronized. Taken all in all, the ladies are well pleased with their success, and return warm thanks to a generous public.

Tonight, the ladies will be in attendance at the rink, where they occupy a small space at the Broadway end of the building. Help the good cause of the Young Men's Christian association along by generously patronizing these good women.

PAID THE DEBT.

Methodists Subscribed Liberally Yesterday Morning.

Although the congregation at the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning was not large, the determination to raise $1,600 with which to pay a portion of the debt was carried out very well, and $1,400 was subscribed before the members knew they were so near the goal. The remainder of the amount was pledged by private subscription. It was the intention to materially decrease the debt of the church, but this was done by dividing it into sections. The total debt was $6,400 before the responses to the appeals of Doctor Huston came in yesterday morning.

HUSTLING IN AKRON.

The Company Have Plain Sailing Just Now.

"Bony" Moore, one of the best known workmen ever employed at a pottery in the city, was in town yesterday visiting for a short time with friends. He declares that all is well in Akron, the recent troubles having been cleared away, much to the gratification of all concerned. The pottery, too, is enjoying the best business it has had since the Liverpool company made it what it is, and all the men have abundant work. The plant is being worked to its fullest capacity, there being an exceptionally strong demand for the grade of ware the concern turns out.

CALLED TO ACCOUNT.

Criminal Cases Brought Up at Lisbon Today.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Oct. 21.—The court room was so cold this morning that court was adjourned to the grand jury room, where Mrs. Barcus was brought to answer the charge of murder. She pleaded not guilty, as did Albert Barcus, and Hon. R. W. Taylor and J. H. Brooks were appointed to defend them. James D. Hickey was released on $500 bond, after denying that he picked Elwood Bunting's pocket. James Gallagher, of Salineville, paid $20 for selling to a minor, and his son William paid $15 and $10 for furnishing liquor to a minor. Michael Goff, of Salineville, was fined $20 and costs for the same crime, and Louis Palmfr said he was not guilty. Pat Densmore denied the charges against him, and was sent back to jail. J. S. Conkle said he was not guilty, and R. W. Taylor was appointed to defend him.

THE MEETING.

Hon. Charles Emory Smith and Hon. D. K. Watkins at the Rink.

Hon. Charles Emory Smith and Hon. D. K. Watkins will speak at the rink this evening, and it is the duty of Liverpool to give them a great audience. Mr. Smith, now the distinguished editor of the Philadelphia Press, but during the administration of General Harrison the minister to Russia, will make several speeches in Ohio before the campaign is over, and the first will be in this city. He is in great demand, and it will be years before East Liverpool will have another opportunity to hear him. The local committee have arranged for the presence of the colored glee club, who will sing several selections during the evening. Go to the rink tonight.

CAPTURED THE BURGLAR.

A Little Adventure on Ridgeway Avenue.

Cross Kerr discovered a burglar in his house on Ridgeway avenue at an early hour this morning, and after frightening the intruder into believing there were many men around, summoned Jack Green from his house next door. Cross was armed with an Indian club, and promised so vigorously to make short work of the burglar that he behaved himself very well while his captors discussed the best method of disposing of him. At length the fellow began to beg for mercy, saying that he got into the house by mistake and had no intention of robbing it. At length they allowed him to go, and he ran like the wind.

CIGARS FOR SALE.

The New Law Seems to be a Dead Letter.

The recent order of Mayor Gilbert calling for the enforcement of the law which does not allow the sale of cigars and soft drinks on the Sabbath day seems to have become a dead letter. Several young men declared yesterday afternoon that the cigars they were smoking had been bought, "and without under cover, too," said one. The first few Sundays, cigars could not be purchased anywhere; then for a while they were bought by people who were known to be all right, and would not say a word, but now the scare seems to have disappeared, and cigars may be sold as usual.

A NASTY FALL.

William Blakely Tumbled Off a Street Car.

William Blakely, a well known young man of the city, was in Wellsville Saturday night, and came home on a street car. He was standing on the rear platform, and when the car turned the corner at the soap factory it was going at such a rate of speed that the young man was thrown off. He almost turned completely over, but his head struck the pavement, cutting a long gash in the scalp, and painfully bruising him. Fortunately for Blakely he fell on the outside of the curve or he might have been more seriously hurt.

A County Committee.

The County Republican Executive committee is meeting this afternoon in Clerk Hanley's office at city hall. The only business before the meeting is the assignment of speakers.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

William Walters Fell Off His Wagon.

A WHEEL WENT OVER HIS HEAD

William Walters, residing at 243 Second street, and employed by James Walters as teamster, was nearer death this morning than ever before, and how he escaped is still much of a mystery.

Walters was hauling dirt from the excavation being made for the Standard pottery, and in some way fell off the wagon. His body dropped into the track of the rear wheel of the wagon on that side. There was no one to stop the horses, and before Walters could be rescued from his perilous position the wheel had passed over his head. He was immediately carried to the patrol station, when Doctors Taylor and Kirk were summoned. They found that Walters had been badly hurt, his skull being crushed and his jaw broken, while a deep cut on his lip was the most painful injury of the lot. No internal injuries developed, and the doctors think that Walters will live if complications do not appear. He was taken home in the patrol, and was resting much easier this afternoon.

INVESTIGATING.

The State Board of Arbitration in the Sanitary Strike.

Secretary Bishop, of the state board of arbitration, was in Tiffin on Saturday looking after the strike of the sanitary potters, and discovered that the best of feeling exists between the company and the men. The workmen claim that the employment of apprentices leads to the overstocking of the labor market in their line of work. They also claim that the system employed for the deduction from wages where work is defective very often works a great injustice. At the present time the Tiffin employees are awaiting the action of their national organization.

Soon to be Wedded.

The announcement is made today that A. W. Scott, the well known architect, and Miss O. Ona Johnson, the charming daughter of E. S. Johnson, will be married Wednesday evening at the residence of M. R. Geer, in Allegheny, by Rev. C. S. Lucas, of the Christian church of that place. The attendants will be Professor Gotschall and Miss Nellie Lloyd, of this place, and Mr. E. M. Geer and Miss Claudie Geer, of Allegheny. A wedding supper will be served, and the wedding party will be home on Thursday. The happy pair will reside at 1984 Walnut street. Miss Johnson is already in receipt of a beautiful piano, the gift of her father.

Fine Music.

Mrs. Ted Brookes has been indefatigable in her efforts to master the fine organ at the First Methodist Episcopal church, and has succeeded beyond the fondest hopes of herself and friends, and her rendering of appropriate selections, during services is the subject of general commendation in the congregation.

Civil Service Examination.

The regular semi-annual examination for the grades of clerk and carrier will be held in this city on Saturday, Dec. 7. The civil service examinations are open to all reputable citizens, who will be examined without regard to political belief. Apply to the secretary for blanks, and have them in before Nov. 18.

Hot Coffee and Ice Cream.

At the rink tonight, Monday, Oct. 21, the Ladies auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian association will set up hot coffee, delicious ice cream and palatable cake, at the Broadway end of the rink. Help the ladies in the good cause, as the proceeds go to the Young Men's Christian association.

Not Our Reverend Huffer.

A Pittsburg paper this morning published the statement that Reverend Huffer, of the Christian church, had been expelled from the church for offering to sell his vote. It is not Reverend Huffer of this city, but another, who has no connection with him whatever.

A Pleasant Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldennire, East End, was the scene of a pleasant party on Saturday evening. The occasion was to bid farewell to the family, as they will in the near future move to Rootstown.

MR. BRICE does not come personally to Ohio to push the campaign, but his faithful lieutenants with his money bags are flitting over the state and scattering the golden harvest far and wide.

WHEREVER Candidate Campbell goes he is greeted with crowds of wondering people, whose presence is not found in admiration but rather in curiosity. They want to hear what the poor fellow has to say for himself and his erstwhile candidate.

THE Democracy of this county is an unknown quantity, and a decidedly small quantity at that. Since the local gang have donned the Brice collar and controlled the selections for the legislative ticket, Potts will get down on his knees in sackcloth and ashes if he votes it.

SENATOR SHERMAN is a great man, a financier of whom the nation is proud, but he will not gain anything by criticizing the martyred Garfield.
We know not whether President Garfield is guilty of what the senator charges, but we do know that if his offense was a hundred times greater, he more than evened accounts when he died.

A DEMOCRATIC OPINION.
The foolish Democrats who are making themselves ridiculous in advocating the election of Campbell because of his former record should cut out the following, taken from the Cincinnati Enquirer, and paste it in their hats:

"It will go down to history as the most unsatisfactory official body that ever met in the state house. The majority of its acts are either indifferent or very bad. It has insisted on doing things that will down it for all time to come. It will be distinguished as having spent thousands of dollars on useless expenditures, for having cowardly forsaken its German allies, for dealing in a weak and uncertain way with the canals, and for accepting from bidders a goodly sum of money; for having among its members some of the cheapest and smallest rascals that ever got into politics—men who saw no good in any measure unless they could discover a $5 greenback wrapped up in it."

Such an arraignment from the most powerful newspaper of the Democratic party in Ohio should convince the Democratic brethren that their candidate is a delusion and a snare, and an employee doing the work of another.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness.
This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough remedy is given freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the cough has developed it will prevent the attack. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

THE PRESENT DROUGHT.

Most Prolonged In the History of the Weather Bureau.

FEW PLACES HAVE HAD RAIN.

This Condition Prevails Throughout the Country With Slight Exceptions—A Vast Area Has Not Received a Wetting
For Many Months.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Reports received at the weather bureau indicate that the present drought is one of the severest, most prolonged and general known in the United States since the bureau's organization. There are few places which show an exception to the general condition, but in no large section of the country unless perhaps in the northwest and far west does there appear to have been a soaking rain for the past two months or more. Where there has been exceptional precipitation
it has been confined to small areas.
In some parts of the country the drought began in the latter part of July, but in most of the sections it did not become markedly pronounced until in August.

The entire Atlantic coast, with a few exceptions, such as Charleston and Au-
normal rainfall since the first of August, amounting in some instances to almost half of the average precipitation.
The Ohio and Mississippi valleys report similar conditions, as does part of the Pacific coast. The great lake region, upon the whole, has fared better than other sections of the country east of the Mississippi. In some parts of the Rocky mountain region, as in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada,
there have been excessive rainfalls during this period, and along the Pacific coast from Olympia to San Francisco there were good rains in September, as there have been in places since then in that section. Farther east, Fort Scott, Ark., Indianapolis and St. Paul, are the centers of districts where the drought was broken in September. There have been good rains also in parts of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

The greatest complaints come from West Virginia, Kentucky and Western Pennsylvania. Fortunately in most parts of the country the drought did not set in until after the principal crops were matured, consequently the effect has not been so disastrous as it would have been if it had begun earlier. In some places it has had a slight effect on the planting of winter wheat, and complaints come from many quarters of the inconvenience of securing water for domestic and stock purposes, many small streams, stock ponds, springs and wells having become dry. Pastures have been injured in many states. It is also noticeable that there has been an increase of typhoid fever over the normal in many of the sections where the drought is severe.

Official figures for the entire country covering the period from March 1 to Oct. 14 show a deficiency.
At Eastport, Me., more than a third of the normal, at New Haven, almost a third, at Albany, more than a fourth, at Harrisburg, more than half at Philadelphia, about a fourth at Washington, about a fifth at Norfolk, almost a sixth at Wilmington, N. C., between a fifth and a fourth at Jacksonville, Fla., almost a fourth at Vicksburg, Miss., about two-sevenths at Galveston, about two-fifths at Knoxville, almost a fourth at Louisville, more than a fourth at Indianapolis, more than a third at Cincinnati, more than two-fifths, with about the same rate at Columbus, Parkersburg, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit and in much of the lake region. The falling off in the Upper Mississippi valley and Rocky Mountain states has been less marked. The cities which show an excessive rainfall for the entire season are:

Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Augusta and Savannah, Ga., Pensacola, Fla., Fort Smith and Little Rock, Ark., Kansas City, Mo., Pierre, S. D., St. Vincent, N. D., Miles City, Mont., Cheyenne, Wyo., Denver and Pueblo, Col., Abilene, Kan., Astoria, Ore., Eureka and Red Bluff, Cal.

Senator Chandler Becomes Emphatic.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Senator Chandler of New Hampshire has written additional letters to the president and to the Interstate Commerce commission urging immediate action to prevent the execution of the newly formed railroad trunk line agreement signed by the presidents of nine roads running from the seaboard to the west. He asserts that the agreement is a gigantic trust and plainly contrary to law. He vigorously attacks Interstate Commissioner Knapp for a statement that the matter was not one of which the commission could take cognizance and says he should be removed. His letter to the president closes by saying that a word from him to Pierpont Morgan would cause the whole conspiracy to stop.

A TERRIFIC CYCLONE.

A Sea Captain Tells of a Terrible Storm on the Gulf of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—The story of the terrible storm that recently swept the Gulf of California has only been hinted at in the meager dispatches that have been received from Mexico.
The first word picture of the gale in its awful entirety is drawn by Captain Van Helmes, master of the steamship Williamette Valley, who has just arrived from the region devastated by the cyclone. It is now apparent that this whirling windstorm, will go down in history as one of the most fearful and destructive ever known.

The difficulty in getting news from the wind-swept and water-ridden country has seemed as strange as the storm itself. The cyclone passed over a country remote from connecting lines of railroad and far away from reliable means of communication. The telegraph wires were all prostrated and many of them will remain down for weeks to come. At Guaymas little or nothing about the storm seemed to be known. Letters received from points within the stricken area were incomplete, full of doubts, uninteresting and mostly written in Spanish, and poorly written at that.

These reasons mentioned, and others as potent will account for the fact that the world will first learn of the partial destruction of the capital of the state of Sonora through Captain Van Helmes nearly three weeks after the cyclone.
Other details nearly as important as these have remained for him to describe. The fury of the storm was not most felt at Lapaz as had been supposed, but at the interior plateau of Culcan. The storm burst in the mountains back of this important town and the waters worked an awful wreck.
Between 25 and 30 people were drowned outright, and many others were injured in the raging flood that rushed through this city. Culcan is an historic city. In it are the state buildings of Sonora. Back of it are some of the richest silver mines the world has ever known. It is a town of fully 11,000 people. The Culcan river runs through it. When the storm struck the ridge of High mountains back of the city there was such a downpour of rain that in a very short time the canyons were full of water pent up by the very quickness with which it fell. Before the climax and fury of the elements was reached this water descended from canyon to valley and valley to plateau with the greatest fierceness ever known in that part of the country and many people perished.

Senator Teller Expresses Himself.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Senator Teller, who has just arrived in Washington for the winter, says that the silver Republicans in the senate will not agree to the reorganization of the senate by the Republicans when congress reconvenes, except upon conditions that they be allowed to fill the vacancy on the finance committee caused by the retirement of Senator McPherson. He also expressed the opinion that the president in his annual message would recommend the retirement of the great-robbery of a Wells Fargo express stage near Grassy last April when $15, 000 was secured. The men took guns, ammunition and a change of clothing.
Then they entered the office and locked them in. As they left they looked the front door, gaining an hour's start before the sheriff heard of their escape. Jailer Cree is reported to be dying.

Three Prisoners Escape From Jail.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 21.— Three prisoners, two of them express robbers, have assaulted Assistant Jailer Al Cree and escaped. They were Tom McCarthy, a trusty, A. J. Gray and J.
G. Stuart, the last two being held for the robbery of a Wells Fargo express stage near Grassy last April when $15, 000 was secured. The men took guns, ammunition and a change of clothing.
Then they entered the office and locked them in. As they left they looked the front door, gaining an hour's start before the sheriff heard of their escape. Jailer Cree is reported to be dying.

Had $6,000 Put Away in His Cellar.

BEDFORDTOWN, N. J., Oct. 21.—Peter Johnson sent his little daughter into the cellar to bring up some pickled fish, and while moving around the barrel happened to displace it. She was surprised to see a pile of gold coin under where the barrel had stood. She notified her mother and they took it up stairs and found that it amounted to $6,000. When Johnson heard of the discovery he thrashed the little girl for prying into things. He was supposed to be very poor.

A SCORCHING LETTER.

Another One Sent to Calvin S.
Brice of New York.

HIS METHODS AS A BOSS AND BOODLER

Exposed, and How He is Now Endeavoring to Control the Democratic Party of
Ohio by the Use of Money—No Honest Democrat Who Loves His State or Party Will Support Him.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15, 1895.
To Calvin S. Brice, Esq., Boss and Boodler and Senator by Right of Corrupt Purchase:

I have, as a citizen of Ohio and an actual and bona fide resident of the state, addressed you two open letters, asking you certain questions, and calling your attention to the bold and scandalous charges made against you in a book called "Bosses and Boodles in Ohio Politics," by Hon. Allen O. Myers. No honest man would rest under these charges for an hour. You make reply you think the storm will have blown over. You are mistaken. The people are aroused. Your silence under these charges and in this campaign has aroused thousands of honest Democrats who feel that the success of your boodle
and your dishonest and infamous methods in politics will not only destroy the Democratic party, but place all that every citizen holds dear in jeopardy.
While you have not deigned to notice my open letter addressed to you on Sept. 23 and Oct. 8, I have heard from you indirectly and in a manner that shows the "arrows sent have hit the critter's heart." It shows that you are not insensible to public criticism. It proves that like all arrant cowards, you are afraid of public opinion, and you are trying to hide in the jungles of politics, that the people and the passing procession may not see you, except at a distance.

"Yell For James."

You have sent word to your henchmen and paid thugs to deny that you are a candidate for United States senator, and to yell for Mr. Campbell.
You have declared that you are in favor of him for president, and his friends and handlers like, that pink of purity, Peter Schwab, have taken up the cue,
and declare that if the Democrats carry the legislature they will favor Campbell for senator. Just now you are kind to Mr. Campbell; you are running him for president, senator and governor. When you have used him, he will be cast aside like a worn out door mat. The sad possibilities are that next year Campbell will not be heard of. While, if beaten, as you surely will be, you will have in your control the party machinery of Ohio. This will be your only asset after the disastrous invoice of your investments are made in November. This you will use to dictate and control the party next year, and you will be able to name the delegation to the national convention, and you will use it, not for the best interests of the party, but you will look upon it as a valuable piece of property purchased by a large expenditure of money, and as such you will use it to your own ends, and when you are through with it, you will follow a practice that has characterized all of your railroad schemes. You will have a receiver appointed to hold an inquest on the remains.

It may be set down now as an absolute certainty that James E. Campbell and some of his friends—no silver man
—no honest man that has opposed you and your methods, even by a silent inactivity, will be recognized in any inquest you may have to answer. You will be permitted to have any voice in shaping the actions of your party in Ohio next year. You have hopelessly destroyed the Democratic party in Ohio!
While it wears the brand of the three big "B's" upon its hump—Brice, Boss and Boodler—there is no future for the Ohio Democracy, and its usefulness as an honorable factor in our politics and civilization is destroyed.

It is true of all criminal types of men that when they have entered upon a career they can not change their en-tirement, they can not alter the conditions that impel them with the growing force to a disastrous conclusion; but it is a fact that may be stated to your credit that you have some sense of shame and sensibility that teach you that you dare not do openly in your own name what you are trying to do now in the names of decency and Democracy, and under the cause of the candidacy of James E. Campbell. The latter in his canvass makes no allusion to you for two reasons: First, because he is a man of honor, and second, because he does not wish to endanger his own standing as a Democrat by being identified with you in any way. He carefully avoids all mention of your name in his speeches, and all reference to your public career.

Brice's Convention.

You had full control of the Springfield convention. It was your convention. It belonged to no one but you.
Had you given the word it would have adopted the Republican platform and indorsed the Republican nominees!
Your committee on resolutions, headed by that pitiable politician, Frank Hard, who seems to be your personal property, has declared that you are a "bigger man than old Cleveland," but you saw this would not do; you permitted them to name him first and you second. You had to hold them to prevent them from naming you as a candidate for senator!
Their zeal alarmed you. They were subservient to the bugs of debasement, and you were compelled to restrain them. You did not dare be an open candidate for United States senator, because you "feared the people." Now your tools say you are not a candidate for senator. You are! You already have a majority of the Democratic nominees for the legislature pledged to support you. This list I will print in my next letter, pointing out to the people the creatures that bear your brand, that every honest Democrat may repudiate them at the polls. On page 41 of "Bosses and Boodles in Ohio Politics," by Hon. Allen O. Myers, I find a sketch he must have had you in his mind's eye when he wrote! He says:

It is not possible to buy all the people or even a majority. To open a campaign would be disastrous to bosses and boodlers. The lion of public indignation must not be aroused, for if it is the occupation of the bosses would go with it. For this reason the places and purposes of the party bosses are not openly avowed, but they are hidden and masked behind fair promises, and three declarations of party principles and fealty. When the d. rest devility is to be perpetrated the greatest care is resorted to to dissemble and deceive. Men are selected for their character, ability and prominence to give credence to "key notes," and to guide the deliberations, while unwary and unsuspecting lambs are led to the precipice and pushed over it. A drove of politics under our system presents more opportunities for developing and exercising the innate wickedness of man than any system that has ever been devised.

This is a perfect pen picture of you and your methods. Let me briefly review your political career in Ohio for the last six years, that Democrats may see what an ardent, fearless, honest Democrat you are.

In 1889 you were not known in the campaign, you were busy in Wall street.
Your spies kept you informed of the amount of money John H. Thomas was putting in the campaign. You held aloof until you were informed a Democratic victory was possible, and then after victory was assured you sent your money and your agents over the state to buy up the men that had taken help from John H. Thomas. You doctored the amounts H. Thomas had given them.
They kept his money and yours too, and voted for you. You thus applied to practical politics your great discovery of "parallizing" the prosperity of someone else and squeezing them after your purchase of the senatorship in January, 1890, you hastened back to Wall street and you were duly quiet and retired. It behoved you to be so; any "pernicious activity" on your part might have provoked an investigation that might have headed you toward a state institution on the banks of the Scioto, instead of your purchased seat in the United States senate. In 1890-91 and '92 you were not in evidence in any campaign in Ohio politics. You sent a dab of filthy money, but your powerful and eloquent voice was not heard pointing the way for the Ohio Democracy. You had no principles and never have had any.

Killed Ritchie.

In 1892 you tried to assert ownership of the Ohio delegation, but failed. You did all you could by non-interference to defeat Cleveland. Ten days before the election you were amazed by the news that Cleveland would carry Ohio. The people had ignored the politicians and without organization, leaders or money they polled the largest vote the Ohio Democracy have ever cast. You bu-cked the national convention out of a few thousand dollars by agreeing to send as much to Ohio as it did. James E. Neal was in New York City when this deal was made, and he notified your henchmen to meet him in Columbus, which they did. He told them about the money and they got all that was given out.

In 1893 you began to put your finger in the Democratic pie in Ohio. You presented Walter Ritchie as from being a candidate for governor—Lawrence T. Neal was nominated. For the first time in its history the Ohio Democracy, at your dictation, abandoned principle and declared in favor of Briceism. It declared Cleveland to be a great man, and in the next paragraph it proclaimed you as a greater and praised you for your honesty. The answer of the people was a majority of 82,000, not against the Ohio Democracy but against New York Brice-ism.

In 1894, after betraying the Ohio Democracy in the United States senate for spot cash from the sugar trust and other corrupt corporations; after being branded by President Cleveland for treason, perjury and infamy, you came to the Democratic convention to be publicly hanged, but you were able to control the committee on resolutions and you again became the issue, and the result was a majority of 137,000 against Briceism in Ohio.

Now, then, we are in another campaign where you have by your manipulations and your dishonest money, made yourself the sole issue, and do you suppose that honest, self-respecting Democrats are going to neglect the opportunity of placing their indignant disapproval upon Brice, Boodler and Bossism?
The Democratic party has no candidate, no platform, no issue. It has only you.
The larger the majority against you this year, the better will it be for the future of the Ohio Democracy.

Campbell's Chin Music.

You fear this result, and for this reason you are hiding under Grover Cleveland's coat-tails and behind Mr. Campbell's back. In April last I saw a letter from you, copies of which were sent all over the state, in which you said you would not put any money in Ohio if you were not permitted to control the organization. Your letter was a threat and a bribe and an insult to every honest Democrat. Later, to control the convention, you sent a letter to every federal officeholder commanding them to do all they could for the cause of "honest money." This letter was in violation of President Cleveland's order for all federal officeholders to keep hands off in politics. It was a cunning appeal worthy of you and your unscrupulous methods. Every federal officeholder to a man obeyed. Cleveland was not amazed at your gall and audacity, but he was furious at your mendacity and dishonest imposition upon his personal followers and worshippers. You had deceived them like Aaron of old, by putting up the golden calf, in his name, and inducing them to fall down and worship. They are aware of your trickery, law, and you will reap the reward for your duplicity at the approaching election.

I will not prolong this letter. I point out facts that many have forgotten.
No honest Democrat is bound by action to support Calvin S. Brice of New York and Springfield performance. Mr.
Brice, it is publicly announced that you are coming to Ohio soon to lift up your golden voice for Democracy. This will be your grandest opportunity to confuse your enemies by doing the following things:

First—Deny that you are a candidate for senator.

Second—Prove that you are a resident of Ohio. Do this by pointing out how much taxes you pay and where you pay them.

Third—Deny that you have spent or are spending any money to delude and corrupt the voters of Ohio.

The best way to meet all charges against you is to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Hon. Allen O. Myers for criminal libel. As a citizen of New York you can do this in a United States court at either Cleveland, Columbus or Cincinnati. If you do not take such steps at this, and that at once, every honest Democrat will feel free and in duty bound to cast his vote against a ticket that is scorned by you. Still I AM A DEMOCRAT.

L. G. Bernard is the Democratic boss of Hamilton county and has been for years. He was formerly denounced as such by James E. Campbell. This year he is working with Brice and Campbell and they are treating him with distinguished consideration.

East Liverpool, Ohio, two-thirds of the members elected to said council concurring, that it is deemed necessary for said city to improve Fenton street from Ridgeway avenue to Sheridan avenue by grading the same, setting curbing and paving sidewalks in accordance with the plans and proposals on file in the office of the city engineer, and that the cost and expense of said improvement, may be assessed upon the property bounding thereon, according to the law and ordinances on the subject of assessments, the assessments therefor to be paid in five annual installments, if deferred, and the same collected as provided by law and in the assessing ordinance hereafter to be passed; bonds may be issued in anticipation of the collection of the assessments, unless the property owners pay their assessments before the same are issued, and within the time prescribed in the assessing ordinance,

THE PRESENT DROUGHT.

Most Prolonged in the History

of the Weather Bureau.

FEW PLACES HAVE HAD RAIN.

This Condition Prevails Throughout the Country With Slight Exceptions—A Very Area Has Not Received a Wetting

For Many Months.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Reports received at the weather bureau indicate

that the present drought is one of the

severest, most prolonged and general

known in the United States since the

bureau's organization. There are few

places which show an exception to the general condition, but in no large section of the country unless perhaps in

appear to have been a soaking rain for

the past two months or more. Where

there has been exceptional precipitation

it has been confined to small areas.

In some parts of the country the drought

began in the latter part of July, but in most of the sections it did not become

markedly pronounced until in August.

The entire Atlantic coast, with a few

normal rainfall since the first of August, amounting in some instances to

almost half of the average precipitation.

The Ohio and Mississippi valleys

report similar conditions, as does part of the Pacific coast. The great lake region, upon the whole, has fared better than other sections of the country east of the Mississippi. In some parts of the Rocky mountain region, as in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada,

there have been excessive rainfalls during this period, and along the Pacific coast from Olympia to San Francisco

there were good rains in September, as

there have been in places since then in that section. Farther east, Fort Scott,

Ark., Indianapolis and St. Paul, are

the centers of districts where the

drought was broken in September. There have been good rains also in parts of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

The greatest complaints come from

West Virginia, Kentucky and Western

Pennsylvania. Fortunately in most

parts of the country the drought did not

set in until after the principal crops

were matured, consequently the effect

has not been so disastrous as it would have been if it had begun earlier. In some places it has had a slight effect on

the planting of winter wheat, and complaints come from many quarters of the

inconvenience of securing water for domestic and stock purposes, many small

having become dry. Pastures have been injured in many states. It is also noticeable that there has been an increase of typhoid fever over the normal in many of the sections where the drought

is severe.

The official figures for the entire country covering the period from

March 1 to Oct. 14 show a deficiency

HIS METHODS AS A BOSS AND BOODLER

Exposed, and How He is Now Endeavoring to Control the Democratic Party of

Ohio by the Use of Money—No Honest

Democrat Who Loves His Money or Party

Will Support Him.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15, 1895.

To Calvin S. Brice, Esq., Boss and Boodler and

Senator by Right of Corrupt Purchase:

I have, as a citizen of Ohio and an actual and bona fide resident of the state,

addressed you two open letters, asking

you certain questions, and calling your

attention to the bold and scandalous

charges made against you in a book called "Bosses and Boodlers in Ohio Politics," by Hon. Allen O. Myers. No

charges for an hour. You make reply

you think the storm will have blown

over. You are mistaken. The people are aroused. Your silence under these charges and in this campaign has

aroused thousands of honest Democrats

who feel that the success of your boodle

and your dishonest and infamous methods in politics will not only destroy the Democratic party, but place all that

every citizen holds dear in jeopardy.

While you have not deigned to notice

my open statements addressed to you on

Sept. 23 and Oct. 8, I have heard from

you indirectly and in a manner that

shows the "arrows sent have hit the

critter's heart." It shows that you are not insensible to public criticism. It

proves that like all arrant cowards, you

are afraid of public opinion, and you

are trying to hide in the jungles of pol-

procession may not see you, except at a distance.

"Vell For James."

You have sent word to your hench-

men and paid things to deny that you are a candidate for United States senator, and to yell for Mr. Campbell.

You have declared that you are in favor of him for president, and his friends

and handlers like, that pink of purity,

Peter Schwab, have taken up the cue,

and declare that if the Democrats carry

the legislature they will favor Campbell

for senator. Just now you are kind to

Mr. Campbell; you are running him for president, senator and governor. When you have used him, he will be cast aside

like a worn out door mat. The sad possibilities are that next year Campbell

will not be heard of. While, if beaten,

your control the party machinery of

Ohio. This will be your only asset after

the disastrous invoice of your investments are made in November. This

you will use to dictate and control the party next year, and you will be able to name the delegation to the national convention, and you will use it, not for the best interests of the party, but you will look upon it as a valuable piece of property purchased by a large expenditure of money, and as such you will use it to suit yourself, and when you are through

with it you will follow a practice that

has characterized all of your railroad

schemes. You will have a receiver appointed to hold an inquest on the remain.

It may be set down now as an absolute certainty that James E. Campbell

and some of his friends—no silver man

—no honest man that has opposed you and your methods, even by a silent in-

activity, will be recognized in any way or will be permitted to have any voice

in shaping the actions of your party in Ohio next year. You have hoped that the Democrats would elect you liberations, while many and unsuspecting lamps are led to the precipice and pushed in a drove. Politics under our system presents more opportunities for developing and exercising the tastelessness of man than any system that has ever been devised.

This is a perfect pen picture of you and your methods. Let me briefly review your political career in Ohio for the last six years, that Democrats may see what an ardent, fearless, honest

Democrat you are.

THE DURRANT TRIAL.

An Important Witness Found by the Prosecution.

A COLORED BOOTBLACK'S STORY.

King and Durrant Talked Freely With Him—Knows Five or Six Girls Who Went to the Church With Them. Belong to Respectable Families.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—The prosecution in the trial of W. H. T. Durrant has found a witness who will testify that everything was not right in Emanuel church prior to the murder of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams. This witness is a colored bootblack named Budd Wilson. When he was served with a subpoena he told his story to detective Seymour, as follows: "I know King and Durrant so well that they talked freely with me," said he. "At first I was surprised that such religious young men should be carrying on in such a fashion, but after awhile I concluded they were about the same as other young men. I learned from those two boys themselves that they were taking girls to the church every night. I often heard them tell of the fun they had there, and of the different girls who accompanied them. I know of five girls who used to go to the church at night with these boys. The people in the mission would be very much surprised if they knew who the girls were. They all belong to respectable families, and the worst of it all is that their parents never dreamed such things were going on."

District Attorney Barnes has decided not to introduce any experts on handwriting in rebuttal. The defense did not go into this matter as deeply as was expected, so there is no real need of following up the handwriting exhibits on behalf of the people. Besides, there is little handwriting on the wrapper and newspaper which enclosed Blanche Lamont's ring, that it would be very difficult to prove by expert testimony that it had been written by any particular individual. The subject of handwriting will be left simply for argument before the jury.

The defense will not keep witness Lenehan on the stand. This witness did not fulfill expectations. Durrant and his attorney thought he would go on the stand, exhibiting a striking resemblance to the defendant, and testify that he offered to sell a chip diamond ring to Pawnbroker Oppenheim at about the time the latter says Durrant visited his place with Blanche Lamont's ring. Lenehan surprised the defense by testifying that he never wore a mustache in his life, and that his visit to Oppenheim's place was after Blanche Lamont's ring had been returned to the dead girl's aunt.

The defense will close as soon as the attorneys are through with Lenehan, and then the rebuttal, for which the prosecution is amply prepared, will begin. J. S. Dunnigan, it is understood, will be the first witness called. He will be asked regarding his visit with Dr. G. W. Graham to the jail where Durrant was confined and about Durrant's request for a private conversation with Graham. Then will come Graham himself and Students Glazer, Dukes and Dodge. Miss Carrie Cunningham will close the rebuttal evidence. It is understood that the defense will not make any strong effort to impeach the prosecution's evidence as given in rebuttal, as Durrant's attorneys are anxious to close the case. It is possible that the arguments will be reached by the end of the week. There are still some doubts as to whether or not Attorney Deuprey will be able to make an argument to the jury. He has hopes himself, but his physician is not so sure. At all events the attorney has the evidence at his home and is preparing himself for a great effort.

A Schooner Runs Ashore.
WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 21.—It has been found that a schooner, which went ashore between Campbells point and Henderson harbor, is the Mystic Star from Detroit to Ogdensburg loaded with corn. The lifesaving crew at Sandy creek was not notified until 18 hours after. It was found, however, that the crew of the steamer were safe, having remained in the rigging all night. The hull of the Mystic Star is completely submerged and she lies in a dangerous position.

Exceptionally Large Lemon Crop.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The lemon crop in the Palermo district this year is an exceedingly large one, at least twice as large as last year's crop, according to a report by United States Consul Seymour to the state department. Owing to the drought and small insects, however, the fruit is not of as good quality.

Defeated the Mexican Champion.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—N. Jasnogrodsky has won the fifth and final game of the chess match—a P-Q 4 opening—after 43 moves, against the Mexican champion, M. M. Sterling. Final score: Jasnogrodsky, 5; Sterling, 0.

GARFIELD'S SON TALKS.

Says Charges Should Be Supported by Papers and Documents.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21.—A great deal of trouble is manifested here by political workers concerning the review of Senator Sherman's book.

The eldest son of the late president, Harry A. Garfield, was seen and while adverse to expressing himself, finally said: "I would much prefer not to be quoted or to say anything on the subject. It has been the policy of the family not to reply to charges that are made against my father and so we have never given any attention to such as the Roscoe Conkling matter and other things of that kind. There is in the possession of our family all the letters, manuscripts, diaries, and such material that was left by my father and it is our intention to answer the charges in the form of the biography rather than as the charges are made."

"I do know one thing I am and have been a warm admirer and friend of Senator Sherman's, and I know that my father always was. Of course Senator Sherman has a perfect right to his own opinions as has everybody else. The nomination in 1880 was considered by my father's friends and by nearly everybody to be the result of a peculiar condition of affairs. Whatever Senator Sherman may think of it is his own matter and he has a right to his opinions. It may be that we will have something to say regarding this matter, but I will not say that we will or will not. I could only say that after a conference with the family and looking over some of the papers, it does not seem to me right or proper for anyone to make charges by inference, but they should be substantiated by papers and documents."

Kellogg Tube Plant Attached.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 21.—William Heckert, a mechanical engineer of national reputation, has attached the Kellogg company upon a claim of $50,000. Heckert claims that after the company had invested a quarter of a million dollars in a plant the original Kellogg devices for rolling seamless tubes proved impracticable, and he was engaged to devise machinery to do the work, which he succeeded in doing and sold the patents to the company for $50,000 in stock. He further claims that through a conspiracy the company was reorganized and his stock wiped out. He now wants reimbursement.

Largest Swinging Bell in the World.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21.—Preparations for the casting of a mammoth church bell have been going on for some weeks at the Buckeye bell foundry in this city. The bell will be larger than the famous 131-ton bell at Montreal, which is now the greatest on the continent. In ornamentation it will surpass all bells in existence and will be the largest swinging bell in the world. It will supplement a chime of 40 bells. The clapper weighs 640 pounds. It is to swing in St. Frances de Sales church.

Wanted to Sell His Vote.

GREENVILLE, O., Oct. 21.—Representative C. W. Hoeffer, a prominent minister, has acknowledged writing a letter soliciting a bribe of $1,500 for his vote for senator. Mr. Hoeffer has been prominently connected in the ministry of the Christian church for 25 years and was a leading member of the last legislature. On seeing the Democratic committee's letter to the Democratic committee in the papers, he confessed and immediately sent the Republican county committee a letter of withdrawal.

The Short Line Sold.

BOONVILLE, O., Oct. 21.—The Short Line has been sold to stockholders' committee represented by D. B. Hatch and G. W. Sinks for $1,500,000. It was offered in two divisions, the bid on each division being $750,000. It was offered as a whole and sold on the first bid. The reorganization takes place on Oct. 28. About 20 interested parties and officials from a distance were present.

Warned to Leave by Whitecaps.

KENTON, O., Oct. 21.—Joel Thomas, an old and respected citizen living just north of Kenton, has been the recipient of a whitecap notice, ordering him to leave this county at once, alleging that he owed all his neighbors and would not pay his debts. People are very indignant and will make it lively for the whitecappers should they be apprehended.

Stole and Skinned a Horse.

BELLAIRE, O., Oct. 21.—Daniel McClelland and Frank Good, aged 18, were arrested while intoxicated. It is charged that they stole a horse from Farmer Kline, near Shadyside, south of Bellaire, killed and skinned the animal, then sold the hide to a dealer here and spent the proceeds for liquor.

Thinks Dolby Is Innocent.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 21.—Interest was added to the Coit case when Major Cook, in an interview, said: "I think Dolby was innocent and pleaded guilty because he was so badly scared, and hoped that by so doing he would get away from the mob at Washington C. H."

SMALL OHIO HAPPENINGS.

Emory Martin was accidentally shot and killed at Ripley while hunting ducks in a saltbush. He is the son of W. J. Martin, a tobacco dealer.

John Price, aged 14, of Addyston was arrested at Portsmouth while attempting to burglarize the residence of Arthur Johnson. He says his parents drove him from home.

Fred Clark, a machinist, undertook to alight from a rapidly moving Big Four passenger train in Dayton and was thrown under the wheels. His right leg had to be amputated.

An attorney has been instructed to bring suit against Henry F. Chittenden of Columbus for $550, the balance of rent due for the cottage at Narragansett Pier due for the cottage at Narragansett Pier known as "Sea Breeze," which he and his family occupied this summer.

John Parker, the mail carrier between Beaver Pond and Wamsleyville, Adams county, died last week of typhoid fever. His bondsman, John Matheny, who is 80 years of age, is making the daily trips with the mail pending the securing of a new contractor.

The State Printing commission unanimously rejected a carload of paper from a Cincinnati firm, furnished under the contract awarded about a month ago. The tract awarded about a month ago. The contract awarded about a month ago. The tract awarded about a month ago.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

S. Seanoir moved to East Liberty on Saturday.

Joseph Everston moved his household goods to Steubenville this morning.

A wheelman who lost control of his machine dashed down Broadway yesterday at a high rate of speed, and came near going into the river.

A run away on the Calcutta road caused some little stir last evening, although no one was hurt. The damage was principally to the buggy.

Doctor Huston on Saturday said the words which united in marriage Mr. Emmet G. Greene and Miss Lillie Blanche Heverly, both of this city.

J. R. Brice, A. Hill and H. Hill, wheelmen from Homestead, were in town yesterday. They made remarkably good time coming down the valley.

The postponed football game between the Young Men's Christian association and the high school will not take place until Thursday afternoon, it having been postponed from today.

An old lady while leaving the First Presbyterian church last evening had the misfortune to fall down the steps leading into Fourth street. Although badly shaken up she was not painfully hurt.

The heavy frost and the high wind almost denuded the trees yesterday morning, and leaves were piled high on the West Virginia side, and the hills back of Jethro. Many shade trees in the city also suffered.

It was cold on Saturday night, and the wind was blowing through the Diamond with unusual force, but the loafers were there as of yore, with no one to order them to move on. Business men were objecting, but it did no good.

The police had no business on Saturday night, and not an arrest was made. Drunks were occasionally seen on the streets during the evening, but none came within range of the law. The city was more quiet and orderly than it has been in many months.

Miss Berenice Dunlap and Miss Sebring rendered a most charming duet in the morning service at the First Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday. Miss Dunlap's soprano is exquisite, and delighted the audience, while the alto of Miss Sebring filled the bill to a nicety.

Baggage-master Smith, of the passenger station, is mad because a local paper attacks him for jostling the passengers. He claims that his duty is to get the baggage on board and then fill up the trucks with what is to be delivered here. He has nothing to do with the passengers.

The Sons of Veterans did not get rich from the presentation of "The Picket Line," but when all the expenses were paid they found that $75 remained to put in the treasury. The performances were not attended as they deserved to be, for the company worked hard, and gave an excellent performance.

Mrs. Morgant, deputy state organizer for the Daughters of St. George, went to Youngstown this morning, where she will this evening institute a lodge of the order. The order is growing in Ohio, and being founded on business principles, has much to recommend it to those who are eligible to membership.

One of the amusing stories which comes from the hill relates the experience of two school teachers who went riding on horseback the other day. Not being provided with saddles and thinking the wicked world could not see, they rode as do the men, and had an enjoyable evening, while the spectators smiled.

L. L. Doggett, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, was in the city yesterday and spoke at the men's meeting yesterday afternoon. There were present a large number of people interested in the association, and the gentleman was warmly greeted. In the evening Mr. Doggett preached in the Methodist Protestant church for Reverend Whitehead.

It is understood that the county committee are endeavoring to convince the powers at Columbus that Hon. J. B. Foraker should make a speech in this county before the campaign is over, and Salem is the town selected for the address. Doubtless there will be thousands of Columbian people present to hear the next senator talk on the issues of the day. General regret will be felt that arrangements could not be made to have the gentleman come to East Liverpool.

When George Welsh, a printer from Wellsville who has been working in town for a week, was paid on Saturday night he received a new half dollar of the coinage of this year, and evidently but little used. It was a pretty piece of money, and great was his surprise when he gave it to the motorman for change to have it refused. The motorman was suspicious, and not liking the newness of the coin declared that it would not go on his car. Welsh did not want to get off and walk, and after an argument, convinced the man it was all right.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

End an Interesting Session in East Palestine.

EAST PALESTINE, Oct. 21.—The Saturday proceedings of the county convention of Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor societies held in this place were characterized by great enthusiasm and a large attendance.

Sunrise prayer meeting opened the day. Topic: "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength." I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would have me do." S. S. Weaver, of Columbiana, leader. The 9 o'clock session with the special subjects: "The Sunday Schools"—"Prayer and Missions," opened with papers by Mrs. C. L. Chambers, of Damascus, and Mr. Fred Truesdale, of Leetonia. A general discussion of the Sunday school followed, after which Miss Helen Jefferies, of Salem, delivered an address upon prayer and missions. An open parliament. "The World for Christ—What are you doing?" was next conducted by Rev. J. P. Anderson, after which the society adjourned until 1:30. The first business of the afternoon session was the election of officers for the coming year. Rev. J. P. Anderson, of Lisbon, was elected president, and Rev. L. T. Farr, of Rogers, Miss Jennie Rowe, of East Liverpool and Mrs. M. J. Honk, of Washingtonville, first, second and third vice presidents. S. S. Weaver, of Columbiana, was elected treasurer. Miss Helen Jefferies, of Salem, recording secretary. Miss Abbie Morris, of Lisbon, corresponding secretary, and Mr. Fred Truesdale, of Leetonia, chairman of a lookout committee to be composed of three vice presidents and himself. Following the election came a discussion of the Young Peoples' and Ladies' societies by Reverend Hahn, of Leetonia, and Mrs. Maule, of Salem. Papers were to have been presented by Mrs. Hawley, of Wellsville and W. A. Hill, of East Liverpool, but both were absent. Junior work was considered in a conference led by Miss Ida Kyes, of East Palestine, substitute for Mrs. M. J. Grable, of Salem, absent on account of illness. Rev. B. T. Boyle, of Salem, addressed the convention on "Pledge Breakers—How to Treat Them," and Rev. R. B. Whitehead, of East Liverpool, gave an interesting address on "What has been accomplished along good citizenship lines." The evening session, after a continuance of the Junior work, took up as its special topic, "Good Citizenship." Rev. C. L. V. McKee, of West Point delivered a powerful address upon "The Endeavor and the Election." Mr. Esterly, of Columbiana, and Rev. L. T. Farr, of Rogers, who were down for addresses, being absent, the session was conducted by a question box led by Reverend Anderson. Many delegates arrived during the day and the meetings were full of helpful suggestions and inspiration to all present.

Sunday's proceedings of the Christian Endeavor convention held in this place were perhaps more interesting and indicative of the enthusiastic earnestness of the societies than any others that were held. Immense audiences attended every meeting, the evening session being so crowded that not even standing room was obtainable. The usual sunrise prayer meeting was held at 7 o'clock, led by Mrs. Moore, of Lisbon. During the morning the members attended the regular church and Sunday school exercises of the town. The afternoon session was devoted to a consideration of the question of Sabbath observance, Reverend Willard, of Akron, delivering the leading address. Reverend Willard's address was both charitable and just, dealing plainly with the question of Sabbath breaking, but dealing with it without bitterness, as a Christian should. The 6 o'clock prayer meeting was led by Mrs. O. C. Walker, of East Palestine; topic, "Christian Patriotism—What Does It Require of Us?" The discussion which followed included many of the ministers in the convention, whose speeches were all direct and to the point. Doctor Jeffers, of Allegheny, delivered the address of the evening upon the subject, "Some Things Which have to do With the Formation of Character." Doctor Jeffers spoke with a logical force and clearness that carried conviction to the audience of the worth and wisdom of his views. He urged reflection upon divine laws, reverence for sacred things, fidelity to one's engagements, obligations of all kinds, promptness in meeting them, and helpfulness. The meeting concluded with a consecration service and the convention adjourned for another year to meet again in Leetonia.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Doctor Brock is home from a visit to Buffalo.

—T. O. Timmons is a Pittsburg visitor today.

—Daniel Nellis went to Cleveland today on business.

—Frank Cain, of Pittsburg was in town over Sunday.

—W. A. Thompson, of Salineville, is in town today on business.

—Mrs. J. E. Deaves, of Salineville, spent yesterday in this city.

—C. A. Vogle, manager of the Steubenville Opera House, is in the city today.

—Miss Etta Mear, of Baltimore, is a guest at the Mear residence on Jackson street.

—Eugene McGonagle, the popular druggist of Salineville, has taken up a position in this city.

—Miss Lida Bennett, of Pittsburg, spent Sunday with her brother, Kelsey Bennett, of Bank street.

—Doc Reese left for Morgantown, Pa., this morning, where he will be employed during the winter.

—Miss Jennie Tarr left yesterday morning for Altoona, where she will join the Webber Comedy company.

—Frank Pauly, formerly of this place, but now of Butler, Pa., was in town on Sunday calling on old friends.

—Will Taggart and wife, of Steubenville, are spending a few days at the residence of Doctor Toot, on Fifth street.

—W. H. Bostwick returned this morning to Medina, O., after a brief visit with his son, Manager Bostwick, of electric light company.

—Mrs. Byron W. Robinson, nee Miss Lettie Smith, and Mrs. Frank Adams, of Akron, are visiting Mrs. W. L. Thompson, of Thompson Place.

—Miss Anna Pugh, of Gas valley, and Miss Georgia Dawson, of Smith's Ferry, spent Sunday at the residence of B. C. Simms on Broadway. Miss Pugh left this morning to attend a wedding at Latrobe, Pa., after which she will spend a couple of weeks in Pittsburg.

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Bunch of Dances.

There will be dances galore in the city this evening, and all the boys and girls can trip the light fantastic until after midnight.

One of the most important hops is that of the Chevalier club in their pleasant rooms on Sixth street.

A masquerade to which a large number of young people have been invited will be the attraction at Bradshaw hall tonight.

The Turners will have a pleasant dance this evening in their hall. Members of the society and their ladies will be present.

The Child is Dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Haney, of Second street, have the sympathy of their friends in the death of their three-months-old child, who passed away on Saturday night after an illness of which dropsy was the cause. The funeral took place this morning, interment being in Yellow Creek cemetery. The little one was one of twins, the other one having died several weeks ago.

Not on Bridge Business.

J. E. McDonald, A. R. Mackall and E. D. Marshall went to Pittsburg this morning, and the people who saw them at the station wondered if there were not some new developments in the bridge project. All the gentlemen denied that they knew anything about the bridge, and declared they were only going to Pittsburg for a brief visit.

GEORGE PHILIPOTT, D.D.

Addresses Another Epistle to General Bushnell.

HE WANTS A CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION.

Presents One or Two Additional Points on Which He Should Like to Meet Him—Democratic Party's Beliefs and Its Denial With the Soldiers—Grover Cleveland's Discovery of Hoke Smith.

EDENHARTON-ERIE, Sept. 22, 1895.

Hon. Asa S. Bushnell:

MY DEAR SIR—Some days since I addressed to you a conscientious challenge to meet me either in public prints or on the rostrum in joint discussion of the character and traditions of the two great parties. The object was to divert the public mind from the excitement and strain of intense partisanship and conduct a campaign of education for the upbuilding of this people.

Having received no reply, I take it that your well known fairness has prompted you to a thorough preparation before meeting me upon what I most candidly admit is a most important point of our beloved Democracy—history and tradition. In fact, no party has a more striking history, or so inexhaustible a fund of tradition.

As there is abundant time to appeal to the thoughts of man, before appealing, later on, to passion and impulse, permit me, general, to present one or two points additional upon which I should like to meet you:

Proposition—That the Democratic party be true in plain and material fact, rather than mock heroic sentimentalism.

Suggestion—The Indian question has proven no end of annoyance to our people, through a markish sentimentalism, largely the result of moral teaching by Republican influences. Had these ignorant creatures been properly dealt with (and our own earlier administrations were somewhat lax in this respect) immense cost would have been saved, and the Indian frontier would not have been appealed to for financial help.

But Democracy—always morally brave—determined to uproot this sentimentalism, and its leading thinkers set about discovering the means. The alert eye of Democracy discovered Grover Cleveland, our beloved leader, who has controlled our fortunes; told us when we were wrong, and gave us his sanction when he thought us right, and who has kept us humble always. [Follow me, general, I am still on the Indian question.]

Grover Cleveland set about disrobing one Republican delusion, and through divine inspiration, perhaps, this man of destiny distinctly discovered the Hon. Hoke Smith. This discovery tore the crown from the "robust man," and "star eyed daughter of the forest," and left the Republican sentimentalists grasping naked, greasy, murderous savages. Because the discovery of Hoke Smith made the memory of Pocahontas (who saved us, the Smiths) reprehensible for all time to come, showing how shallow were the glories Republican dreamers had thrown about these savages.

Proposition—The Democratic party's bravery in dealing with the soldiers.

Suggestion—A great abuse had grown up in the way of pensions, and Democratic thinkers—ever consulting the moral and educational aspect of a question, discovered that almost as a class, these old veterans were given first attention, and you will never find the Democrats lacking in the subject of discussion of immorality.

Shall I hear from you? Respectfully,
GEORGE PHILIPOTT, D. D.

Even if it should come to pass that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is called off, there is still the possibility of a joint debate between Josiah Quincy and Carl Schurz on the question of civil service, and that would do about as well.

It is understood that at the next meeting of the medical societies it will be decided to prescribe the reading of one of Mr. Cleveland's messages for sleeplessness instead of the usual usual opiates.

If the V. L. M. Morrison presidential boom is really wise it will at once take steps to put itself under the protection of the police.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

End an Interesting Session in East Palestine.

EAST PALESTINE, Oct. 21.—The Saturday proceedings of the county convention of Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor societies held in this place were characterized by great enthusiasm and a large attendance.

Sunrise prayer meeting opened the day. Topic: "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would have me do;" S. S. Weaver, of Columbiana, leader. The 9 o'clock session with the special subjects: "The Sunday Schools"—"Prayer and Missions," opened with papers by Mrs. C. L. Chambers, of Damascus, and Mr. Fred Truesdale, of Leetonia. A general discussion of the Sunday school followed, after which Miss Helen Jefferies, of Salem, delivered an address upon prayer and missions. An open parliament, "The World for Christ—What are you doing?" was next conducted by Rev. J. P. Anderson, after which the society adjourned until 1:30. The first business of the afternoon session was the election of officers for the coming year. Rev. J. P. Anderson, of Lisbon, was elected president, and Rev. L. T. Farr, of Rogers, Miss Jennie Rowe, of East Liverpool and Mrs. M. J. Honk, of Washingtonville, first, second and third vice presidents. S. S. Weaver, of Columbiana was elected treasurer. Miss Helen Jefferies, of Salem, recording secretary. Miss Abbie Morris, of Lisbon, corresponding secretary, and Mr. Fred Truesdale, of Leetonia, chairman of a lookout committee to be composed of three vice presidents and himself. Following the election came a discussion of the Young Peoples' and Ladies' societies by Reverend Hahn, of Leetonia, and Mrs. Maule, of Salem. Papers were to have been presented by Mrs. Hawley, of Wellsville and W. A. Hill, of East Liverpool, but both were absent. Junior work was considered in a conference led by Miss Ida Kyes, of East Palestine, substitute for Mrs. M. J. Grable, of Salem, absent on account of illness. Rev. B. T. Boyle, of Salem, addressed the convention on "Pledge Breakers—How to Treat Them," and Rev. R. B. Whitehead, of East Liverpool, gave an interesting address on "What has been accomplished along good citizenship lines." The evening session, after a continuance of the Junior work, took up as its special topic, "Good Citizenship." Rev. C. L. V. McKee, of West Point delivered a powerful address upon "The Endeavorer and the Election." Mr. Esterly, of Columbiana, and Rev. L. T. Farr, of Rogers, who were down for addresses, being absent, the session was conducted by a question box led by Reverend Anderson. Many delegates arrived during the day and the meetings were full of helpful suggestions and inspiration to all present.

Sunday's proceedings of the Christian Endeavor convention held in this place were perhaps more interesting and indicative of the enthusiastic earnestness of the societies than any others that were held. Immense audiences attended every meeting, the evening session being so crowded that not even standing room was obtainable. The usual sunrise prayer meeting was held at 7 o'clock, led by Mrs. Moore, of Lisbon. During the morning the members attended the regular church and Sunday school exercises of the town. The afternoon session was devoted to a consideration of the question of Sabbath observance, Reverend Willard, of Akron, delivering the leading address. Reverend Willard's address was both charitable and just, dealing plainly with the question of Sabbath breaking, but dealing with it without bitterness, as a Christian should. The 6 o'clock prayer meeting was led by Mrs. O. C. Walker, of East Palestine; topic, "Christian Patriotism—What Does It Require of Us?" The discussion which followed included many of the ministers in the convention, whose speeches were all direct and to the point. Doctor Jeffers, of Allegheny, delivered the address of the evening upon the subject, "Some Things Which have to do With the Formation of Character." Doctor Jeffers spoke with a logical force and clearness that carried conviction to the audience of the worth and wisdom of his views. He urged reflection upon divine laws, reverence for sacred things, fidelity to one's engagements, obligations of all kinds, promptness in meeting them, and helpfulness. The meeting concluded with a consecration service and the convention adjourned for another year to meet again in Leetonia.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Doctor Brock is home from a visit to Buffalo.

—T. O. Timmons is a Pittsburg visitor today.

—Daniel Nellis went to Cleveland today on business.

—Frank Cain, of Pittsburg was in town over Sunday.

—W. A. Thompson, of Salineville, is in town today on business.

—Mrs. J. E. Deaves, of Salineville, spent yesterday in this city.

—C. A. Vogle, manager of the Steubenville Opera House, is in the city today.

—Miss Etta Mear, of Baltimore, is a guest at the Mear residence on Jackson street.

—Eugene McGonagle, the popular druggist of Salineville, has taken up a position in this city.

—Miss Lida Bennett, of Pittsburg, spent Sunday with her brother, Kelsey Bennett, of Bank street.

—Doc Reese left for Morgantown, Pa., this morning, where he will be employed during the winter.

—Miss Jennie Tarr left yesterday morning for Altoona, where she will join the Webber Comedy company.

—Frank Pauly, formerly of this place, but now of Butler, Pa., was in town on Sunday calling on old friends.

—Will Taggart and wife, of Steubenville, are spending a few days at the residence of Doctor Toot, on Fifth street.

—W. H. Bostwick returned this morning to Medina, O., after a brief visit with his son, Manager Bostwick, of electric light company.

—Mrs. Byron W. Robinson, nee Miss Lettie Smith, and Mrs. Frank Adams, of Akron, are visiting Mrs. W. L. Thompson, of Thompson Place.

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which requires a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50-cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Bunch of Dances.

There will be dances galore in the city this evening, and all the boys and girls can trip the light fantastic until after midnight.

One of the most important hops is that of the Chevalier club in their pleasant rooms on Sixth street.

A masquerade to which a large number of young people have been invited will be the attraction at Bradshaw hall tonight.

The Turners will have a pleasant dance this evening in their hall. Members of the society and their ladies will be present.

The Child is Dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Haney, of Second street, have the sympathy of their friends in the death of their three-months-old child, who passed away on Saturday night after an illness of which dropsy was the cause. The funeral took place this morning, interment being in Yellow Creek cemetery. The little one was one of twins, the other one having died several weeks ago.

Not on Bridge Business.

J. E. McDonald, A. R. Mackall and E. D. Marshall went to Pittsburg this morning, and the people who saw them at the station wondered if there were not some new developments in the bridge project. All the gentlemen denied that they knew anything about the bridge, and declared they were only going to Pittsburg for a brief visit.

Having received no reply, I take it that your well known fairness has prompted you to a thorough preparation before meeting me upon what I must candidly admit is the strongest point of our beloved Democracy—history and tradition. In fact, no party has a more striking history, or so inexhaustible a fund of tradition.

As there is abundant time to appeal to the thoughts of man, before appealing, later on, to passion and impulse, permit me, general, to present one or two points additional upon which I should like to meet you:

Proposition—That the Democratic party believes in plain and material fact, rather than mock heroic sentimentalism.

Suggestion—The Indian question has proven no end of annoyance to our people, through a makeshift sentimentalism, largely the result of alleged moral teaching by Republican influence. If these ignorant creatures, been properly dealt with (and our own earlier administrations were somewhat lax in this respect) immense cost would have been saved, and our London friends would not have been appealed to for financial help.

But Democracy—always morally brave—determined to uphold this sentimentalism, and its leading thinkers set about discovering the means. The alert eye of Democracy discovered Grover Cleveland, our beloved leader, who has controlled our fortunes, told us when we were wrong, and gave us his sanction when he thought us right, and who has kept us humble always. [Follow me, general, I am still on the Indian question.]

Grover Cleveland set about disabing one Republican delusion, and through divine inspiration, perhaps, this man of destiny discovered the Hon. Hoke Smith. This discovery tore the crown from the "noble red man," and "star-eyed daughter of the forest," and left the Republican sentimentalists grasping naked, greasy, murderous savages. Because the discovery of Hoke Smith made the memory of Pocahontas (who saved us the Smiths) reprehensible for all time to come, showing how shallow were the glories of the American dreamers had thrown about these savages.

Suggestion—A great abuse had grown up in the way of pensions, and Democratic thinkers—ever consulting the moral and educational aspect of a question, discovered that almost as a class, these old veterans were given over to intemperance—not all of them, but many. On each pension day there was debauchery and riot, and the example was depraving our youth.

While Republican theorists would restrain and tax the soldiers in the interest (alleged) of morality, the brave old Democratic party—the party of Sillidell and Mason, of Booth, Atzenti, Champ Ferguson, Morrissey, Croker, Brice and Campbell, arose in its majesty and swiped the names of these drinking veterans from the pension roll, and thus shut off their whisky. True, there was a howl that these old rakes simply drank to ease the pain of old wounds, but Democracy was unwavering in its moral determination.

There are many other points, my dear general, but I would have you prepare yourself on these first. You may receive challenges from some of my Democratic friends upon matters of equal import, but you will agree with me that the moral side demands first attention, and you will never find the Democrats lacking in the subject of discussion of immorality.

Shall I hear from you? Respectfully,
GEORGE PHILPOTT, D. D.

The genuine are made by covering a linen collar or cuff on both sides with "celluloid" and as they are the only waterproof goods made with such an interlining, it follows that they are the only collars and cuffs that will stand the wear and give satisfaction. Every piece is stamped as follows:

TRADE MARK.
CELLULOID MARK.

If anything else is offered you it is an imitation. Refuse any but the genuine, and if your dealer does not have what you want send direct to us, enclosing amount and stating size and whether a stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair.

GEORGE PHILPOTT, D.D.

Addresses Another Epistle to General Bushnell.

HE WANTS A CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION.

Presents One or Two Additional Points on Which He Should Like to Meet Him—Democratic Party's Beliefs and Its Dealing With the Soldiers—Grover Cleveland's Discovery of Hoke Smith.

EDENHART ON ERIE, Sept. 22, 1885.
Hon. Asa S. Bushnell:

MY DEAR SIR—Some days since I addressed to you a conscientious challenge to meet me—either in public prints or on the rostrum—in joint discussion of the character and conditions of the two great parties. The object was to divert the public mind from the excitement and strain of intense partisanship and conduct a campaign of education for the upbuilding of this people.

Having received no reply, I take it that your well known fairness has prompted you to a thorough preparation before meeting me upon what I must candidly admit is the strongest point of our beloved Democracy—history and tradition. In fact, no party has a more striking history, or so inexhaustible a fund of tradition.

As there is abundant time to appeal to the thoughts of man, before appealing, later on, to passion and impulse, permit me, general, to present one or two points additional upon which I should like to meet you:

Suggestion—The Indian question has proven no end of annoyance to our people, through a makeshift sentimentalism, largely the result of alleged moral teaching by Republican influence. If these ignorant creatures, been properly dealt with (and our own earlier administrations were somewhat lax in this respect) immense cost would have been saved, and our London friends would not have been appealed to for financial help.

But Democracy—always morally brave—determined to uphold this sentimentalism, and its leading thinkers set about discovering the means. The alert eye of Democracy discovered Grover Cleveland, our beloved leader, who has controlled our fortunes, told us when we were wrong, and gave us his sanction when he thought us right, and who has kept us humble always. [Follow me, general, I am still on the Indian question.]

Grover Cleveland set about disabing one Republican delusion, and through divine inspiration, perhaps, this man of destiny discovered the Hon. Hoke Smith. This discovery tore the crown from the "noble red man," and "star-eyed daughter of the forest," and left the Republican sentimentalists grasping naked, greasy, murderous savages. Because the discovery of Hoke Smith made the memory of Pocahontas (who saved us the Smiths) reprehensible for all time to come, showing how shallow were the glories of the American dreamers had thrown about these savages.

Suggestion—A great abuse had grown up in the way of pensions, and Democratic thinkers—ever consulting the moral and educational aspect of a question, discovered that almost as a class, these old veterans were given over to intemperance—not all of them, but many. On each pension day there was debauchery and riot, and the example was depraving our youth.

While Republican theorists would restrain and tax the soldiers in the interest (alleged) of morality, the brave old Democratic party—the party of Sillidell and Mason, of Booth, Atzenti, Champ Ferguson, Morrissey, Croker, Brice and Campbell, arose in its majesty and swiped the names of these drinking veterans from the pension roll, and thus shut off their whisky. True, there was a howl that these old rakes simply drank to ease the pain of old wounds, but Democracy was unwavering in its moral determination.

There are many other points, my dear general, but I would have you prepare yourself on these first. You may receive challenges from some of my Democratic friends upon matters of equal import, but you will agree with me that the moral side demands first attention, and you will never find the Democrats lacking in the subject of discussion of immorality.

Shall I hear from you? Respectfully,
GEORGE PHILPOTT, D. D.

Even if it should come to pass that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is called off, there is still the possibility of a joint debate between Josiah Quincy and Carl Schurz on the question of civil service, and that would do about as well.

It is understood that at the next meeting of the medical societies it will be decided to prescribe the reading of one of Mr. Cleveland's messages for sleeplessness instead of the usual usual opiates.

If the William R. Morrison presidential boom is really wise it will at once take steps to put itself under the protection of the police.
